In this summary of teaching evaluations, I provide the list of courses I served as a teaching assistant and student evaluation scores. In addition, I attach evaluation scores generated by the Academic Course Evaluation of University of California at Davis at the end of this document.

Note: The average of teaching assistants of the department of economics of the University of California at Davis is around four every quarter. The graph depicts the average score at each quarter for the question “Overall, the TA did a good job in this course.” Labels F, W, S, and SS of x -axis represent Fall, Winter, Spring, and Summer Session, respectively.

In most quarters, my evaluation scores were above the departmental average score. Although the evaluation score in my first quarter as a teaching assistant, 2016 Fall, was bad, overall evaluation scores are in an upward trend. In particular, in the 2019/2020 academic year, I won the Outstanding Teaching Assistant award.
